STIMSON & CO.

Portland, April 7, 1873. a3dtf

Linn, Lane and Douglas—Town and County.

ROSEBURG, May 20, 1873.

To THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

If the people of Oregon, in common with the other inhabitants of the Pacific coast, have experienced a season of dull business, a tight money market and unusual difficulties in collecting outstanding accounts, they have enjoyed an extraordinary mild winter, a delightful spring, with the confident hope of a glorious summer and an abundant harvest. With the reasonable prospect of large crops, good prices and plenty of money the difficulties of the past year will be forgotten, like a dream of the night; the people will take fresh courage and the State will make a new start in its career of development and progress. The beautiful climate, the rich soil, the grand forests, the vast water power and the magnificent scenery of Oregon are so many pledges and guarantees that the State, though only in its infancy, will, before long, attain great proportions in population, and in agricultural, manufacturing, lumbering and mineral wealth.

ALBANY

Is one of the old and well-established towns of the Willamette, and is holding on a steady course of progress. The spring trade has fairly commenced, and, notwithstanding the scarcity of money, the stores are doing a good business. It occupies a favorable position for warehouses, and shipping by river steamers and by railroad. The fine water-power from the Calipooia river gives great advantages for manufacturing, and the Albany and Santiam Canal, now being made and to be finished in the fall, will greatly increase this power. The "Albany Prairie," thirty miles long by fifteen miles broad, is, perhaps, not surpassed in the State for rich and productive soil, that yields from twenty to sixty bushels of wheat to the acre, according to cultivation, goes to make Albany one of the most extensive wheat markets and shipping points in the Willamette valley, or on the Willamette river. More than 400,000 bushels of wheat, or 10,000 tons of wheat and flour, have been shipped from Albany this season. The wheat is of the choicest kind, and the flour made by J. H. Foster & Co. and Beach & Monteith, known as the "Magnolia" and "Albany City Mill," corresponds with the character of the wheat and is well known in the home and foreign markets. C. B. Comstock & Co., Mr. Westlake, Mr. Simpson and Mr. Morris are the principal warehousemen of Albany. Messrs. Comstock & Co.'s wheat operations are very extensive in the Willamette and Umpqua valleys. Albany has many fine houses and beautiful cottages, elegantly furnished, and has flower and fruit gardens of more than ordinary taste and cultivation. The people are refined and cultivated—social, moral and religious in a high degree; the schools and churches are numerous, and the Collegiate Institute, under Prof. Warren, is a credit to the city and county in its educational efficiency and discipline. It wants a larger endowment and more external finishing and ornamenting to make it complete.

JUNCTION CITY

Is one of the most prosperous and hopeful of the new towns on the line of the Oregon and California Railroad. It is not two years since the first building was erected—now it has sixty houses and three hundred of a population. It has some fine stores, warehouses, a good hotel, quite a number of mechanics' shops, some neat dwelling houses and a large district school. Smith, Brasfield & Co., of Harrisburg, have lately opened a brick store here. It is twenty-five feet front and a hundred feet deep, substantially built, elegantly finished and furnished with a stock of goods that would do credit to any general store in the country. They keep the Postoffice, which is a model of convenience and neatness. They own three warehouses that cost $4,000 and that hold 100,000 bushels of grain, which they are determined to run in the interest of the farmers. Mr. Hiram Smith, the head of the firm, is one of the best and most popular business men in the valley. He is sure to be abreast of the times in his many enterprises. Whoever gets ahead of him in business matters, must rise early and move quick.

The town is situated near the center of Grand Prairie that lies between the Willamette river and the Long Tom stream in Lane county. This prairie is twenty five miles long and ten miles broad. Some idea may be formed of the richness and fertility of the soil from the fact that it yields an average of forty bushels of wheat to the acre. It is well watered for stock, and timbered for fencing and firewood. Ten miles west of the town, the foot-hills of the coast range of mountains are reached that are admirably adapted for sheep; the table lands of the coast range afford wonderful facilities for raising stock. The best agricultural lands can be purchased from $25 to $30 an acre; the foot hills can be bought from $3 to $5 an acre; the mountain ranges are not surveyed and are free to all grazers for the present. Wheat is firm at 65 cents a bushel with an upward tendency.

EUGENE CITY

Is located at the head of the Willamette Valley, and is the highest point reached by navigation on the Willamette river. It is an old and well established place of business, and is making sure and steady progress. The population numbers 2,000, and is gradually increasing. The stores are numerous; many of them are lately rebuilt of brick, well finished and furnished with great taste and a corresponding variety of stock. It has a considerable water power by means of a slough from the Willamette river, that drives the flouring, saw and planing mills of Underwood & Osborn. It is one of the leading centers for the manufacture of wagons, furniture, house finishing goods and building materials of all kinds. The business of the town is sustained by the rich and productive agricultural lands and well cultivated farms that extend for miles on every side, and the fine flocks of sheep that graze in the valleys and on the distant foothills, making Eugene a distinguished point for wheat and wool market. It has the advantage of shipping by railroad, and by river boats during high water. Boats that draw little water are being built by the Willamette Transportation Company that will be able to run to Eugene at all seasons of the year, and at the lowest stage of the Willamette river. Wheat is firm at 65 cents a bushel. Mr. Berry has bought here within the last few days 20,000 bushels at this price for R. C. Kinney & Son, the distinguished millers at Salem; this is $13,000 gold that has gone direct into the pockets of the farmers, and will go a certain length to relieve the local pressure of the money market. The wool market has opened; one house has engaged several lots at twenty cents a pound, and will take any quantity at that price. The general impression is that wool will advance to twenty two or even twenty-five cents a pound. The majority of farmers in good circumstances will hold over their wool rather than sell for less than twenty five or thirty cents. Well cultivated farms can be had from $20 to $30 an acre; choice land within a mile of the town sells from $50 to $100 an acre. Good lands near the foothills can be had from $3 to $10 an acre.

THE STATE UNIVERSITY

At Eugene City is attracting much attention at present in consequence of the County Commissioners canceling the assessment of the $30,000 to secure the institution there, and to assist in erecting the building. As a few leading men of intant were determined to test the legality of the tax, the friends of the University thought it prudent to end the strife by abandoning the tax and appeal to the public to make up the amount by voluntary subscriptions. This plan of proceeding is meeting with a hearty response, and calling forth liberal and generous contributions from a great number—even from some who were opposed to the tax. The money will be raised; a new, elevated and beautiful site has been chosen at the suggestion of the Secretary of State; the plans are adopted; the ground is being cleared for laying the foundation, and the University will be built which will be a monument to the lasting honor of its originators, designers and supporters; and an additional guarantee for the stability, prosperity and progress of advanced education in the State. "Knowledge is power." "The mind's the stature of the man." A wiser than Lord Brougham and Dr. Watt says: "Wisdom is the principal thing; therefore get wisdom; and with all thy getting get understanding." Let the University flourish and its friends prosper! One year from the time it is finished and opened for classes it will attract ten per cent. of an addition of population to the city; and add the same per cent. to the value of real estate. Men of Eugene, "Arise and build!" Messrs. Bowker & Alexander, of Salem, have the contract for the building. It will be a hundred feet long, fifty five feet wide, three stories high, and will cost $60,000. The plan admits of extensive enlargement when required. The site has a good elevation; the grounds exceed eighteen acres in extent; the soil is capable of high cultivation; and the surrounding scenery is all that could be desired for variety and beauty. The Secretary of State showed good taste in recommending the site, and the Board of Directors displayed some judgment in acting on his suggestion.

SPRINGFIELD

Is three miles south of Eugene, and is the entrance to the Forks of the Willamette valley. It is an enterprising little town, in which there reside a number of influential families. It is the seat of a splendid water-power, and is supported by rich, fertile and extensive valley lands that lie between the forks; the foot hills offer fine pasture for stock, and the forests supply the best and some of the choicest timber in the State. Pengra Brothers own the water power at this place, and the large saw, planing and flouring mills. They have extensive and profitable contracts for supplying lumber and hogs for the Portland and San Francisco markets. Mr. B. J. Pengra is well known as one of the most intelligent men of the State. The Forks of the Willamette valley for rural, river, mountain and valley scenery cannot be easily surpassed for beauty and grandeur. The three rivers that form the Forks afford an endless supply of choicest trout for the angler; the foot-hills and mountain ranges have an immense quantity of game for the sportsman; the valleys and bottom lands attract millions of ducks and geese every fall. The latter are so numerous as to become injurious to the fall wheat.

OAKLAND.

The town site of Oakland is changed about a mile west from the old location, to take advantage of the Oregon and California railroad. The first house was erected just ten months since. It has now a population of 250 people and sixty-three houses, including four large stores, Thomas' fine hotel, some neat cottages, a few elegant residences and as many as thirty different buildings, including lawyer's and physician's offices, tradesmen's shops, livery stables, postoffice, Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express office, Masonic and Odd Fellows' halls. Abraham & Bro. are the leading merchants of the town. Their store, warehouse and private residence would do credit to any town from Portland to San Francisco. The town was not more than well established when it was caught in the tight money market and scarcity of money. These drawbacks coming on the back of a large expenditure for new buildings, have proved a heavy burden difficult to carry. Business is dull; money is scarce and collections difficult to make. Since the Railroad Company have lowered their freight charges on grain to Portland from 31 cents a bushel to 35 cents a hundred, wheat and oats are coming in freely. The merchants are buying and shipping twice the quantity that was supposed to be in the district. This is a practical argument in favor of low freight charges for developing the resources of the State and advantage to the farmers, merchants, and Railroad Company, by increasing production and multiplying the demand for freight accommodation.

ROSEBURG

Is the central town of the Umpqua Valley, the county seat of Douglas county and the present terminus of the Oregon and California railroad. These are considerable advantages. The town is lately incorporated and public improvements are in progress. The merchants are men of high character, enterprise and capital, and are taking due advantage of their favorable position. The late reduction in freight charges on grain to Portland is bringing in four times the quantity of wheat and oats that was supposed to be in the country. S. Marks & Co., Blacklock, Morgan & Co., and Floed & Co., are buying and shipping extensively. They are giving 60 cents a bushel for wheat and 40 cents for oats. These firms have lately built three fine warehouses at the railroad station for storing grain, wool and other produce, as well as for storing and forwarding goods to Jacksonville and other leading points south, which they do on the most reasonable terms. The business of Roseburg is decidedly active, large sums of money are going into the hands of farmers for produce, to be followed by still larger amounts for wool in one or two months. Although the merchants and farmers feel the pressure of the times, yet they are comparatively easy when compared with other places. Comstock & Carton are building a livery stable convenient to the railroad station, 65 feet front by 100 feet deep and 24 feet high, that will in design and convenience be equal to any of the kind in the State. The cost will be $3,500. Abbott & Beath, of Portland, are the contractors. A new hotel is to be erected on Oak street, 40 feet front and 160 feet deep, that will embrace all the modern improvements of a really comfortable house.

The mineral resources of lime, copper and lead in the neighborhood are great. The people, true to the character of the Sunny South, are social, polite and refined; the business men, representatives from all parts of the Union, are men of energy, enterprise and integrity, and the indications are that a great future is in store for Roseburg. The Roseburg Lime Company is going to be an extensive and successful enterprise, that will be able to supply the State with the best of lime. The value of railroads for developing a country may be determined from a simple fact. Mr. T. P. Sheridan, one of the successful and esteemed merchants of this place, on learning that the Oregon and California Railroad was to be built, sold the balance of his property in the East, amounting to near $10,000, and invested it in the Umpqua valley. The late reductions in freight charges on wheat and oats from Roseburg to Portland on this line, is giving great satisfaction, and is demonstrating the value of railroads in developing a country, when they are run for the interest of producers, shippers and their owners. Roseburg is a scene of great bustle and excitement in hauling grain to the warehouses for shipment by the Oregon and California Railroad.

DOUGLAS COUNTY

Embraces the whole of the Umpqua valley, of which Oakland and Roseburg are the principal towns. It extends from the Calapooia range of mountains in the north to the head of Canyon Pass in the south, fully eighty miles; from the Cascade range to the Coast range of mountains east and west, for more than a hundred miles. It is a continual succession of rich and beautiful valleys, grassy slopes and magnificent mountains, interspersed with numerous rivers and creeks, a great variety of fir timber and scattering oak, that presents to the eye of the visitor scenery of rare beauty, vast variety and wonderful grandeur that will, in due time, be the resort of numerous visitors, and be the happy homes of thousands more than it is at present, of industrious and prosperous settlers.

THE WOOL GROWERS

Of this county are a very comfortable and independent class of men. It is the best adapted of all the counties in the State for raising sheep and producing wool to advantage. Last winter was one of the mildest and the spring one of the most favorable for sheep and wool ever experienced in the county. The grass has been so abundant that it is expected the fleeces will average a pound more than any former year, or average five pounds in place of four pounds. The lambs were nearly all dropped in December and are now almost as large as their mothers. There are 200,000 sheep in the county that will yield 1,000,000 pounds of wool, estimated worth $250,000. There is a general impression among sheep-farmers that buyers have an understanding to keep wool at the lowest figures possible so as to make up for the losses of last year; but the wool growers of this county are determined to hold their wool until they get a fair price for it.

A WOOL GROWERS' CONVENTION

is called for Saturday week, the 31st of this month, to meet in Roseburg to organize for their mutual protection on this point and other matters bearing on their interests. The general impression is, that they will agree not to sell their wool for less than 25 or 30 cents a pound, and ship direct to New York or Boston markets. These men are intelligent, independent and united, and what they resolve on they will execute.

NORTHWEST.

A new fellow in Watkinds' chain gang at Salem laid a Chinaman out last Monday while they were working together. He didn't like cheap labor.

THE TERRITORIES.

Olympia is shipping hoop poles to San Francisco by the million.

It is reported that Mr. A. R. Elder has been appointed postmaster at Olympia.

Five hundred troops have been stationed on the plains to protect workmen on the N. P. Railroad.

Mr. F. Kimmerly has been appointed Deputy Sheriff of Walla Walla county in place of E. L. Taylor.

Crickets have already appeared in Deer Lodge valley, and farmers have fears that they will seriously damage the crops.

The Germania Lead Works near Corinne, Utah produced 500 tons of pure lead in April, and will probably turn out 1,000 tons in May.

The total valuation of property assessed in Skamania county, W. T., in 1872, was $148,000; in 1873, $144,640: less than last year, $3,300.

Two "nice young men" of Olympia tried to "put heads" on each other recently about a young lady to whom they were both playing the gallant.

The Corinne Reporter calls the Utah lawyer who is getting up a petition to the President asking for an appointment as Chief Justice, a "damphool."

The brick for the Washington Territory Penitentiary will be obtained from the kiln at Steilacoom. What town will furnish most of the inmates is yet to be decided.

On Saturday evening, four or five miles below Steilacoom, the steamer Colfax stripped her steam pipe, or steam valve, or something of that sort, and becoming disabled was obliged to signal the Alida for assistance. The latter boat towed her into Steilacoom.

The law makers of Montana propose to pass a vagrant law which will make poverty a reproach and a week of leisure will subject the pleasure-seeker to the tender mercies of the Sheriff and a sumptuous entertainment of bread and water at the county's expense.

A letter from Yakima dated May 12th, says: The Indians are quiet here and settlers are all at work with their spring crops. There is a good chance here to buy fat beef. Money will be plentier when the snow on the Snoqualmie Pass melts off. It is now 12 feet deep there.

The Montana Legislature is about to pass a bill to regulate stage and express companies. Among its general features it provides for a fare of ten cents per mile, prohibits piling baggage and express matter on passengers, and other alleged acts of drivers tending to the discomfort of travelers, and provides penalties.

A correspondent of the Missoulian says that in the Bitter Root valley seeding is progressing quite favorably, and every energy is being put forth by the farmers to get their crops in. The amount of grain cultivated this year will be small compared with the crops of last year, yet there will be an abundance raised for home consumption and a surplus for market, if we have any.

The Olympia Courier learns that the Secretary of the Interior has awarded R. J. Reeves, Esq. the contract for surveying the boundary line between Washington and Idaho Territories. Mr. Reeves is a first-class surveyor, and we think the Secretary of the Interior has made a wise selection in awarding this delicate task to such a reliable and practical man as Mr. Reeves.

We note a commendable rivalry in town improvements between Virginia City and Deer Lodge. The Montanian recently boasted of the erection of a new awning in front of the post office of that place, whereupon the Deer Lodge papers chronicled with much satisfaction the removal of the express office from a bye-path on to the main trail leading through the burg.

The correspondent of the Jacksonville Sentinel, writing from Idaho, says: "Idaho City and Boise City are both on the decline. There are many houses vacant, and labelled 'to rent.' No new houses are being erected, and everything indicates dull times and a decrease in the population. The placer mines are being worked by Chinamen, and the quartz ledges require more capital to work them than can be found in the Territory."

The Olympia Courier of Monday says: "About three tons of live emigrants passed our office this morning, consisting of half a dozen wagons and some twenty male and female emigrationists. They were on the way to White river, and came from the vicinity of Albany, Oregon. This will tend to develop that country and materially reduce the quantity of oysters and clams to be shipped over the Northern Pacific railroad to our Oregon friends next winter."

The steamer North Pacific was weighed down deep with her cargo last Sunday night, carrying away one of the heaviest loads ever taken by her or any other boat from Olympia. She was detained more than an hour after her appointed sailing time, receiving on board her load. She carried away upward of sixty passengers, a small mountain of baggage, the mails and express, and 50 head of beef cattle, 5 work oxen, 12 head of dressed beeves and 16 sheep, 4 horses and a wagon, a logging camp outfit, and 400 sheep skins.

The Tribune says last Sunday was a busy day among the steamers at that place. The Cyrus Walker took a raft containing 1,100,000 feet of saw logs to Port Gamble; the Blakeley, a raft to Port Blakeley; and the Black Diamond a raft to Tacoma. The fourth raft was ready for the Colfax to take to Seabeck, a hundred and fifty miles away, but the boat in coming met with some mishap on Saturday evening, and stayed at Steilacoom. The four rafts aggregated 2,500,000 feet. One was from the camp on Mud Bay, and the other three from the two camps just below the city.

The following particulars of the late stage robbery and murder are from a Salt Lake exchange. As the stage from Hamilton was passing the summit of a steep grade ten miles from Hamilton, three men, disguised and painted as Indians, suddenly sprang into the road and ordered the driver to stop. One of the robbers covered the driver with a shotgun. The driver, Wm. Mann, at once drew up his horses, and the man who was sitting on the seat with him passed out the treasure box; as the box was being handed down the gun was discharged, the ball striking Mann and passing through his shoulder. The leader of the band ordered the stage to drive on, and when about a quarter of a mile away from the scene of the robbery, the driver was found to be dying from the loss of blood, and he expired in a few moments.

A MOTHER'S COUNSEL.—Mary Clarke, wife of the learned Adam Clarke, was the mother of six sons and six daughters; and the love she bore to them would astonish many in these days. To one of her sons she wrote the following instructive words:

Do nothing carelessly, and then I venture to say that with the ability you have you will do most things well. Be exact in all you do, nor let the least matter pass you unexamined. In your reading, too, investigate your subject, and be not satisfied with skimming on the surface of things, nor make any attempt to grasp the whole without attending to every part in order. Paying attention to particulars, as well as to generalities, will by degrees give you a habit of mental observation, while at the same time it will deepen your knowledge. Do not forget to bear your needs and your heart in private before God, that He may grant you grace, and direct all your future path in life.

EASTERN DATES TO MAY 19.

WASHINGTON CITY.

As to the Distribution of Flowers on Decoration Day.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—The Executive Committee of the Grand Army of the Republic resolved last evening that the proposed strewing of flowers on colored graves at Arlington would probably cause disorder and occasion a breach of peace and that national cemeteries were on Decoration Day only opened by the Quartermaster General for the purpose of decorating the graves of Union soldiers.

EASTERN STATES.

Funeral of Countess Pourtales.

NEW YORK, May 19.—The obsequies of Countess Pourtales, daughter of Ben Holladay, were celebrated yesterday in the private chapel of the family on Holladay's estate in [illegible] County, known as "Ophir Farm." A special train from the city carried a large company of friends, including several schoolmates of the deceased, to attend the rites and show their respect for her memory, and sympathy with the afflicted family. A richly mounted rosewood casket enclosing the remains rested on a bier bordered heavily with violets and laden with a profusion of other floral tributes of affection. Mr. Holladay, prostrated by the suddenness of affliction, was unable to be present. The death of the Countess was not expected so soon, even by her immediate attendants, and while sinking to slumber, she passed away. When the funeral ceremonies of the Catholic faith had been concluded, the casket was laid away in the family vault, and the friends returned to the city.

New Idria and McGarrahan Again.

NEW YORK, May 19.—The New Idria Mining Co., it is reported, has again applied to the Secretary of the Interior for a patent to work quicksilver mines in California. McGarrahan has filed evidence controverting the Company's right to mine.

A Devilish Deed.

[illegible], N. Y., May 19.—Joseph Waltz, in his confession of having murdered Hutchet, states that the deed was done about 10 o'clock, P. M., on the 1st of May. He went to the room of Hutcher, whom he found asleep, and struck him with a hatchet, the first time with the blunt point, and thrice with the sharp edge. He only groaned and all was over. Waltz then took the body to a stone wall, where quantities of blood were found, and covered it up. Then he left it until next night, when he took it down into an orchard and buried it. The officers having learned all they could, took him out to show the place where the body was buried in the orchard, and a few inches below the surface the body was found wrapped in a blanket, with the head horribly mangled. Waltz also confessed to having burned three school [illegible] in town and buried the books, which have been found at the place he indicated. When asked why he committed the murder, he replied, "I did it for my belief, not for gain. A bad spirit was in me, and I wanted to do some thing."

Story with a Moral for Butchers.

NEW YORK, May 19.—Dr. Harris, physician of the [illegible] family, says the domestics of that family who were poisoned undoubtedly took poison in corned beef. It is supposed the butchers used arsenic to kill rats, and that some got into the pickle which contained that. All the [illegible] are recovering.

The Stokes Case.

ALBANY, May 19.—On motion of Lyman Tremaine today, the appeal of Stokes was ordered by the Court of Appeals to be heard on Monday, 26th inst.

The "Pathfinder" Again.

NEW YORK, May 19.—Judge Black and Wayne McVeagh, counsel for General Fremont in the case of the Memphis and El Paso bonds, will apply, it is reported, for a revision of the proceedings of the French court in which Fremont was condemned by default.

A Doubtful Story.

NEW YORK, May 19.—In an interview to-day, J. B. [illegible] before [illegible], stated that about a year ago Senator Van [illegible] called on him and offered him a good site in the [illegible] position to open a first class [illegible] and told him he could make [illegible], adding: "We will expect, of course, that you will do something for us in return for such a good site." Sutherland states that he could not accept the proposition.

Louisiana Insurrectionists Arraigned.

NEW ORLEANS, May 19.—The St. Martinsville prisoners were arraigned to-day before the U. S. Commissioner. In answer to a question, the Commissioner stated that the prisoners were charged with a violation of the sixth section of the act of 1870, known as the enforcement act.

Mortality Among Coolies.

NEW YORK, May 20.—The [illegible] Peru is a brief statement to the effect that of 80,354 coolies shipped from Macao to Peru during the past twelve years 31,729 perished from [illegible] and five per cent. of the whole number from suicide or sickness.

Gideon after Charles F. Adams.

NEW YORK, May 20.—It is announced that ex-Secretary of the Navy Gideon Welles, who kept a diary of all that was done in the Cabinet, will reply to Charles Francis Adams. Among other things he will be able to prove is the fact that Mr. Lincoln desired to appoint Mr. Dayton Minister to Great Britain, and was only induced to change his mind and appoint Mr. Adams by the urgent appeals of Mr. Seward.

Pierrepont Declines.

NEW YORK, May 20.—Ex-Judge Edward Pierrepont has declined the mission to Russia. He is mentioned by a Washington special as the probable successor of Chief Justice Chase.

Contest for Coal Lands.

NEW YORK, May 20.—A great struggle is progressing in Sullivan, Pennsylvania, for the possession of over 10,000 acres of land in the anthracite coal regions, valued at $20,000,000. One party has burned three houses which the other had erected, and retaliation is now threatened. O. H. Wheeler, of New York, represents one side, and the Reading railroad the other.

Pacific Mail Matters.

The Times publishes what it calls a rumor in circulation that a stockholder in the Pacific Mail Company is about to make application for the appointment of a receiver on the ground that the funds of the company are being recklessly squandered in stock speculations and the only way to stop these operations is to throw the company into bankruptcy.

Billiard Challenge.

Albert Garnier has challenged Maurice Daley to play a match game of billiards for the championship and diamond cue.

Suggestive.

Halsey's oil-cloth factory, Brooklyn, was burned this morning. Twelve of the workmen were discharged yesterday.

Train's Case.

In Train's case this morning the court directed the jury to give a verdict of not guilty on the ground of insanity. Mr. Bell said two of the jurors informed him that it was not their verdict. The court replied, "The verdict is entered in that part of the court. Dr. Cr[illegible] testifies that his insanity continues and therefore Train must be sent to the State Lunatic Asylum." Train excitedly said, "I protest against proceedings here. I have been five months in jail, without being granted a trial." Then, addressing Judge Davis, he said, "Before I leave here I [illegible] your impeachment, in the name of the people." Judge Davis ordered him to sit down, and an order was made to send Train to the State Lunatic Asylum.

The Plague of Locusts.

ST. LOUIS, May 20.—A special from Austin, Texas, says that grasshoppers in immense numbers have made their appearance in that State, laying waste all vegetation in some localities. They have entirely destroyed the corn, cutting it down to a level with the ground. They seem to be moving northward, and it is feared that Missouri, Illinois, Kansas and Nebraska will be visited.

A Windfall.

United States Marshal Nicolay has arrived here, for the purpose of putting Captain John Maguire in possession of seven blocks in the northern part of this city, which have just been recovered through the Supreme Court from the Tyler heirs. The property is of immense value.

Condition of Crops.

The Democrat of this morning publishes a large batch of correspondence from all parts of Missouri, southern Illinois, Kansas and Iowa, which predicts large and excellent wheat crops, but short crops of oats and corn.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

From Madrid.

MADRID, May 19.—It is said that the Carlists have, in some cases, not only shot prisoners who fell into their hands, but have mutilated them before killing them.

Arrival of the Shah at St. Petersburg.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 20.—The Shah of Persia arrived at Moscow yesterday, and was warmly welcomed. His three wives remain in Persia.

Capture of Khiva Contradicted.

LONDON, May 20.—A St. Petersburg special says there is no truth in the report of the capture of Khiva and the Khan.

WEST INDIES.

From Cuba.

HAVANA, May 18.—The authorities having given passengers on the steamer Yazoo permission to leave on another vessel for New York, they sailed on Saturday. The Yazoo remains in quarantine.

The steamship Liberty has arrived from New Orleans and remains in quarantine.

LATER.—All vessels from New Orleans that were quarantined have been released.

NEVADA.

AUSTIN, May 20.—Correspondence of the Reveille from Lida Valley gives the following: On Monday, the 12th instant, a murderous affray occurred at the saloon of Scott & Fitzgerald, in which three men, named Hugh Scott, John Duffee and George Childs, were shot and killed. The correspondent says the testimony before the coroner's jury was that two men were playing cards in the saloon. The game became quite exciting, outsiders betting on the result. George Childs and W. B. Hobin, both outsiders, got into an altercation, in which the latter struck the former a blow with his fist. Childs immediately drew a six-shooter and shot Hugh Scott, a bystander, twice, both shots taking effect and killing him instantly. Childs then shot Duffee, also an innocent bystander, the ball severing the artery of the right thigh. Duffee died in three minutes. As soon as Duffee was shot, some person in the crowd, unknown to the jury, fired at Childs, killing him instantly.

The trial of Simpson, charged with the murder of McMinn, at Dockwater, a year ago, was concluded in the District Court at Belmont last Friday. The jury is still out and the chances are that they will fail to agree. They had been out forty-eight hours.

TREASURE TROVE.—A few days since a boy named John Mc[illegible] found in the [illegible] above the city a kettle containing $6,000 in gold and silver coin. The boy is an orphan, the son of a soldier who was [illegible] at Fort Leavenworth for desertion, when John, who is now 14 years of age, was a baby. The boy used to live in this city, and [illegible] living by blacking boots, but this spring he went out in the country above this city, and hired himself out to a farmer for $12 per month and his board. [illegible] of he was out after the [illegible] and concluded to dig up a piece of [illegible] root on the hillside to take home for tea. In digging for the root he struck the kettle, and upon examining it found that it contained money. He lugged his treasure home, and it was counted and showed something in the neighborhood of $6,000 in gold and silver. Mosman very sensibly took his money up to Omaha, where some of his relatives live, and has deposited it, and proposes to educate himself well with a part of it and go into business with the remainder.—St. Joe Gazette.

THE BEST JOKE YET.—The latest joke at Brigham Young's expense is perpetrated by a Pennsylvania paper, which says, "Some chap thought he would play a joke on Brigham Young, so he gained access to a list of his wives, and added twenty-seven names thereto: Mary Jane Young, Josephine Ann Young, Sarah Malinda Young, &c. The next time Brigham called the roll twenty seven didn't answer to their names, so he concluded that they had died since the last roll call, and putting a few more inches of crape on his hat, he looked as sad as possible, but has not yet detected the joke.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, MAY 21, 1873.

The Thing of Beauty that is "Jawing" For ever

The little plain and truthful talk which we indulged in a day or two since in reference to the associate editor of the Bulletin, struck that mendicant in the tenderest place about him, and doubled him up so completely that he shut into himself like a school boy's jack-knife. We have no recollection of having seen before a more perfect collapse than that of the bag of shallow conceit who plays second fiddle to Mr. James O'Meara in the management of Mr Holladay's newspaper He rolls, tumbles, grunts and whines through nearly a column of feebleness in essaying a reply, but he does not touch the question of his disgracing the party and humiliating his friends by exhibiting himself as an office-seeker who would solicit his friends to take up a subscription to pay his way to Washington so t'' t he might present his claims in person to those who had the dispensing of patron-g.. Nor does he answer the grave charge that he is to-day drawing a salary from the Government for work that he does not perform. Instead of answering this grave charge he attempts to make an issue upon the question which is the handsomer person, he or the editor of the OREGONIAN, at least we suppose that is the point he wishes to make, for he thrusts savagely at us on the score of our having met with the misfortune in boyhood to lose an eye. He declares us to be a "bully boy with a gl- - eye," and lets off at us some other equally as effective broadsides of fact and logic in support of his proposition that he is a better looking man than we. This is our weak point. We can't reply. We are not particularly handsome and the Custom House editor of the Bulletin is. The Greek Slave a-d the Apollo Belvidere are nowhere in com- -on with him. The shoulders of Richard the Third stuck upon the stomach of Jack Fals-aff, and this combination moving through the st-- ts with the motions of the white elephant would not match him in "form and comeli-- -." We acknowledge ourselves vanqu- -ed in the contest of beauty, and will hereafter do our best endeavors to have the public -erve to speak of this combination of the [illegible] -tunning features of all the orders of architecture used in putting up human beings, as the "Fat Boy," and call him, instead, the "Pretty Boy." O, but wouldn't it make Darwin's eyes bug out to meet this composite -- in the road! The great naturalist would [illegible] -ediately strap a pole to the back of [illegible] -- as a support to his physical and m-- l constitution, and place him on exhibition - an illustration of the highest positi- - [illegible] -lt of the doctrine upon which his [illegible] b--k is based, "The Kinship of Men and An- -ls."

And now, having surrendered without firing a gun, when attacked on the point of personal beauty, we pr- s to the n xt and only other point [illegible] -pted to be made by the Bulletin which, though doubtless considered of small impor-ance by the "thing of beauty," is one of [illegible] -rt according to our way of thinking. He s-ys that when we characterized the conduct of the ring, in combining with G -rge E. Cole and other Democratic [illegible] -ssary sort to drive Repub- [illegible] own party primaries by fraud, [illegible] -honorable and outrageous, and Mr. Mitchell's conduct in conspiring for and [illegible] the defeat of Governor Gibbs, who had been [illegible] fairly in the caucus, as treacherous to his party, we were guilty of black-guard- [illegible]. We say we r-g-rd this as a grave [illegible] -, for no journalist has a right to be a blackguard. The public have a right to expect and to demand that their newspapers shall be conservators, not destroyers, of public and private morals; and no journal that habitually descends into blackguardism can be any-thing less than a contamination and destroyer of the -orals of its readers. But it is not blackguardism to denounce public sins and call political swindles and swindlers by their right names. These are matters that deeply concern the welfare of the community; and the journalist who fails to speak plainly and boldly of them, fails to discharge his duty and proves himself unworthy of [illegible]. It is not always pleasant to speak of the [illegible] of politicians with con- [illegible] truthfulness, but the paper that shrinks from doing so is no friend to the com- [illegible]. Christ called men vipers, hypocrites, [illegible] thieves, when their character were such th t these were fit words to describe them; [illegible] we believe that the best men of all subsequent ages have imitated his example in this [illegible]. It was reserved for the individual who argu- a question of great public con- [illegible] by such allusions to the person of his adversary as he imagines will wound the feel- [illegible], to discover that it is blackguardism to [illegible] iniquity. This certainly is a [illegible] to dictate what is dignified or [illegible] at [illegible]!

But what about the facts? It is not a sufficient answer to the serious charges against the ring, simply to say that the man who [illegible] them has a glass eye and is a blackguard. The main question is, are they true? We assert they are and the people believe them. The Custom House editor of the Bulletin has never denied them, and if he dare do so now we will prove by a number of [illegible] -table persons who have not glass eyes and are not blackguards that they are true, and that he himself has confessed their truth, saying that the transactions referred to were "worse than the Tammany ring's" performances, and declaring he "had never engaged in any such outrages upon the people before, and would not have done so then, but for the fact that Mr. Holladay demanded it, and Mr. Holladay's assistance must not be lost to the party. We will prove this and much more, if he desires to place the matter in a situation to demand investigation.

Leaving this subject, we can not but ask the pardon of our readers for trespassing so far upon their patience, and we wish we could assure them this would be the end of the controversy; but it looks as if the man with a grievance is determined not to stop till he makes it necessary for us to publish some more of his and the ring's iniquities.

It really seems as if people would never learn that it is a universal rule among newspapers to refuse to publish any article, no matter how great its merit may be, which is not accompanied by the name of the author. We have received three communications within as many days, signed with each a nom de plume, and not accompanied by the name of the author. Two of these are well written, and would be quite acceptable, but we could not depart from the rule in any case. We don't want to publish your name, kind contributors, but we must know who you are before we publish your letters.

As to whether Mr. George Scheide looks up to King Solomon, as all good little Sunday School boys ought, we are not accurately informed. Perhaps even Mr. S never once thought of the wise man's injunction—"With all thy getting, get understanding." It does not appear, moreover, that when George stole five hundred volumes from the Congressional library he had that thirst for knowledge which, in the scholar, is sometimes styled bibliomania, or, when superadded to a modicum of "pure cussedness," stigmatized under the epithet of kleptomania. Scheide is a man of some attainments Indeed it has been said that at one time he was a clergyman. So much the worse He has also been the editor of a Chicago paper He can't expect any mercy from the court, after that fact becomes known. Scheide was employed by the Librarian on the recommendation of two members of the Forty-second Congress. We remember that just before the last Congress adjourned, Mr. Butler succeeded in passing a bill providing for a thorough renovation of the halls of Congress. It had been well to include a chemical analysis of the atmosphere, to see if any animate germs of iniquity lurk in the corridors and about the premises of the capitol. Perhaps, after all, poor Scheide's wickedness is but the result of atmospheric conditions. In which event he should meet with no sever punishment than the average Congressman will receive from the hands of the people "Go and sin no more."

In another column will be found the letter we mentioned yesterday morning in relation to the approaching city election. It furnishes its own explanation. The document came into our office at a very late hour last night, which will, we trust, be a sufficient excuse for any errors that may have occurred in setting up the names of signers. From the number and character of the persons who have thus taken the initiative in this movement, and of the Committee named, it will certainly prove very formidable, to say the least. The number of signatures to this request exceeds by considerable the aggregate of all the votes cast in all the wards together in any city primaries ever held, according to our recollection. The strength of the movement from this time forward, will depend on the character of the ticket which the Committee of Twenty-seven may place in the field. Until the nominations are made by the Committee we prefer to be a looker-on It will be time enough to take sides, one way or the other, when we shall have seen the ticket.

A Washington paper tells about "a beautiful young girl" who was married in San Francisco recently. "At the conclusion of the marriage ceremony she turned to her husband and said, 'George, kiss me, I am dying!'" It is gratifying to note the alacrity with which George bussed his moribund bride, and a kind of melancholy satisfaction pervades and tranquilizes us when we read that "at that moment the young bride fell dead to the floor." But what the dickens is that sensational Associated Press reporter of ours doing all this while. It is a shame that we are reduced to the necessity of relying on Eastern papers for such affecting episodes as this.

The Congressmen's Convention

Senator Brownlow has written the following characteristic letter declining to attend the Convention of Western and Southern members of Congress and others, in St. Louis, on the 13th inst.:

KNOXVILLE, April 30, 1873.

Hon Messrs Brown, Blow, and others—GENTLEMEN: I have before me your very courteous letter, inviting me to attend a Congressional Convention at St. Louis I respectfully decline mixing myself up with any more Southern commercial and agricultural conventions. Before the late rebellion the leaders in Southern politics got up a series of Southern commercial conventions, and while they were for the avowed purpose of advancing the commercial, mechanical, and agricultural interests of the Southern States, they were in reality, as avowed by Mr. Yancey, intended to fire the Southern heart and instruct the Southern mind in the arts of war, and in bringing on the villainous work of secession. The eleven States that went into the rebellion were all presided over by Democratic Governors, who succeeded in plunging the country headlong into a bloody and four years' war. The result of the conflict I need not pause to give the particulars of, as the whole country is familiar with them. The country is now prosperous and happy, and wealth and abundance meet the eye wherever you go. What we want is harmony and a universal acceptance of the state of things as they exist. I speak advisedly when I say Congress will cheerfully give to the country such national legislation as is wanted. We have already the best currency of any country in the civilized world. We need about $500,000,000 of greenbacks added to our present circulation to enable us to meet the wants of commerce and trade.

Very respectfully, &c.,
W. G. BROWNLOW.

The State Temperance Union.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

A meeting of the Oregon State Temperance Union will be held in the city of Albany commencing Friday, June 13th, 1873. Attention is called to Article 2d of the Constitution: "The Union shall be composed of delegates duly elected and accredited from all temperance societies, churches and other religious bodies that enjoin the duty of Temperance upon its members as a rule of faith and practice in the State of Oregon Provided that no society shall be entitled to representation in the Union unless it shall make the subject of Temperance one of the chief and distinctive features of its organization." All organizations entitled to representation in the Union under the provisions of the above article are earnestly requested to elect delegates. Let us come together as Christian and conscientious men and women, fully determined to do and dare in the noble work of redeeming our State from the curse of intemperance, which is making so many comfortless homes and sorrow stricken families; which withers the intellect and sends bright manhood and blooming youth to premature and dishonored graves Delegates will be returned free over the O & C R R and O C R R upon presentation of certificates, signed by the President, to the effect that they have attended the session

E W. RYAN,
President Oregon State Temperance Union.

A correspondent of the Washington Chronicle invokes the inventive genius of America for the production of a continuous rail practically without joints, for railway tracks, and the author of a pamphlet setting forth the advantages of the water power of the Potomac, the "vast mineral resources" of the District of Columbia, etc., says

In the increasing demand for better railway tracks the observant mind cannot fail to see a very large, important and lucrative business in the manufacture of a continuous rail, comparatively without joints, by virtue of its tubulous intersections, which secures to the traveler and live stock in transitu, not only ease, comfort, and safety, but double the speed afforded by the present system of rails, from which, it is safe to state, that seven tenths of the railroad accidents occur

The Washington Chronicle relates a pleasant incident connected with the Speaker's chair which was lately purchased by Mr James Wormley for $96. Says the Chronicle

"During the speakership of Mr. Henry Clay, the venerable Joseph Lancaster, of England, the distinguished founder of the Lancasterian method of instruction, visited the hall of the House of Representatives, on which occasion the Speaker insisted that Mr. Lancaster should take his chair. Mr. Lancaster, politely accepting, did so, with the remark, 'Sir, whoever may sit in this chair, it can never be filled with anything better than Clay.'"

Just the Thing for the Modoc War

At the time of the Indian wars with which Oregon was troubled some sixteen or seventeen years ago, a plan of operations was presented through the columns of the Oregon Statesman, which though it appeared new and not wholly practicable, was in fact only novel in its application, the idea of conquering Indians by the use of musical instruments having evidently been in the mind of the poet who wrote "music hath charms," etc. We do not clearly recollect whether the plan was adopted in further conducting the war that was in progress at the time this plan was presented. If it was not, we are sure the reason was that the war seemed to be conducted pretty successfully without it, and the change, therefore, seemed unnecessary. The same argument does not apply in the case of the present Modoc war, and we are of opinion this plan ought to be taken up, experimentally, at any rate Believing that it will receive respectful consideration at the hands of the authorities now in charge of the Indian affairs of the nation, in connection with the terrible contest now going on between thirty-three Modoc braves and the United States of America, and that a candid examination of its merits will commend this scheme to those authorities as the most feasible and least perilous mode of fighting those savages, we here reproduce the proposition

NEW STYLE OF INDIAN WARFARE.

The subtle power of music, and its strange effect upon the aboriginal mind, seems to have been long understood by learned men We are informed by an ancient writer of renown, that "Music hath charms to soothe the savage," &c, the obvious truth of which I have long since ceased to doubt.

After giving the subject much reflection, it has occurred to me, in view of this remarkable psychological fact, that this great nation has the opportunity now in this the nineteenth century, to inaugurate a policy in combating and subduing our red brethren of the forest—a philanthropic and humane policy—which, if successfully adopted, must challenge and excite the admiration of the whole civilized world.

That this theory will be pronounced chimerical and Utopian by those conservative minds which were the first to condemn the steamboat, the lucifer match, and the Atlantic Cable, in their incipiency, I am prepared to believe. Towards that class of old croakers, unhappily too numerous, I entertain only the sentiment of commiseration.

As the preliminary step in this revolution in military tactics, I would suggest that commanders of troops should not be permitted to march into the Indian country until every man of their command had been taught to perform upon some instrument of music, and become tolerably proficient in its use. There can be no doubt in any intelligent mind, that if these suggestions were fully understood by our Government, the whole system of the present military discipline would be changed so far as regards Indian warfare.

To illustrate my theory we will imagine, if you please, a regiment of troops entering the Indian country fully equipped for the novel, but effective mode of subduing the poor ignorant savage. The men of each company are disciplined to perform upon instruments uniformly the same, the whole regiment constituting one stupendous band. For example, Co A, Key Bugles, Co B, Bassoon, Co. C, German Flute, Co. D, Violin, Co. E, French Horn, Co. F, Trombone, Co. G, Castanets, Co H, Kettle Drums, Co. I, Ophicleides, and Co. K, Irish Bag Pipes.

The troops approach the enemy, quietly in the night time—in some respects not unlike a serenading party—Co.'s B and E a short distance in advance. As the savage camp is neared Co. B (Bassoon) gives an awful blast simultaneously—nothing like discipline—when the savages, being suddenly awakened from a sound sleep, and rather confused, Co. E lets in furiously—yet in perfect time—with the French Horn, which, in nine cases out of ten, will completely subdue the women and children. Co. C, Dutch Flutes, and Co A, Key Bugles, coming up on either flank in about 2 40 time, knocks the aged and infirm perfectly helpless. At this crisis of the battle Co.'s D, F, G and I, having instruments of long range, or, to speak more correctly, of loud tone, let in a well directed volley of Violin, Trombone, Castanets and Ophicleides, supported by Co. H, Kettle Drums, Co. K, Irish Bag Pipes, being left to guard the baggage train.

The savage beast is now, or ought to be utterly soothed, and the whole camp duly made prisoners of war, while under the influence of music, without shedding a single drop of human gore.

It will be asked what instruments would be appropriate for officers to play upon. I would respectfully suggest that commanding officers perform on the bass drum, that instrument possessing a gruff tone, not unlike the usual voice of command. Majors and captains would naturally play second fiddle, and the lieutenants would, as a general thing, be delighted to devote their whole time to the flute and guitar. In time of peace, what monster concerts might be given at the different military posts, always, of course, for the benefit of humane and charitable objects.

I have not time just now to dilate at greater length upon this theme; yet I must be permitted to say, that on the score of humanity alone, to say nothing of cultivating a general taste for music in the army, I think this idea worthy the consideration of an enlightened government.

How to Get Along

Do not stop to tell stories in business hours

If you have a place of business, be found there when wanted.

Never "fool" in business matters.

Have order, system, regularity, liberality and promptness.

Never buy an article you do not need simbly because it is cheap, and the man who sells it will take it out in trade.

Trade in money.

Strive to avoid hard words and personalities.

Do not kick every stone in the path.—More miles can be made in a day in going steadily on than stopping.

Pay as you go

Aid, but never beg.

Help others when you can, but never give what you cannot afford to simply because it is fashionable.

Learn to say "no." No necessity of snapping it out in dog fashion, but say it firmly and respectfully

NEW DISCOVERIES AT POMPEII —The skeleton of a young woman was found, with a curious bracelet on her arm, a broad massive gold one, formed of great heavy rings soldered together. But the most remarkable one is a painted marble Venus which was found in the garden of the same house, in the edicule. She is about a metre high, and, he says, is really beautiful, although the effect of the coloring is startling. Her hair is yellow, the eyelashes and brows black, a yellow chlamys which covers part of the body has blue and red borders on the inside folds. The left arm leans on a small statue, which is also painted with yellow, green, and black draperies, the left hand holds the apple of Paris The nude parts of the body are painted, it is in perfect preservation, excepting two fingers of the right hand, which are wanting. But to our modern eyes this ancient coloring of statues can never be agreeable, it cheapens the marble and gives the same effect produced by those repulsive wax and wooden statues of saints made in Paris for altars. Tinting we may grow used to, some statues are really improved by a soft, darkish hue being given to the marble. The effect of Story's Jerusalem, for instance, is heightened by the solemn brown tinting he has upon it.

DRESS WELL —The young man who desires his "make-up" complete should always select the place where the articles desired can be obtained. For a neat fitting suit, made of the very finest materials, the public is directed to the house of Fishel & Roberts, an establishment which ranks with the leading houses on the coast. The stock is complete the attention paid to customers, and the promptness with which orders are filled, at once commends this house to all

Mr. John Kennedy, formerly of the Philadelphia Shoe Store, is now at the San Francisco Shoe Store with Fleischner & Crone, where he will be pleased to wait upon his friends and customers, with one of the largest and finest stocks of boots and shoes on the coast He will also continue to take measures for ladies' custom-made shoes

The all-gone feeling which people sometimes speak of, is caused by want of proper action of the liver and heart. These may be assisted and the bowels regulated by Parson's Purgative Pills in small doses.

PRINTING OFFICE FOR SALE.—A Newspaper and a thoroughly equipped Job office, in one of the most thriving towns on the N. W. coast, is for sale Does a large amount of Job work and has a large and increasing subscription list and is otherwise prosperous. Either a half or whole interest will be sold TERMS part cash and part on time, or will trade for negotiable paper. The proprietor has a business engagement in the States, and offers to sell for that reason only For particulars enquire of H L. Pittock, Portland

ON THE WAY.—The following marine intelligence we learn from a private letter under date of April 10th, received yesterday by Mr. O. S. Phelps, from Hongkong: The bark Edward James, Capt. Patterson, sailed from Hongkong on the 8th of April, bound for San Francisco. She is laden with products of the Celestial Empire and brings 350 Chinese passengers. The American bark Garibaldi, Capt. Noyes, sailed from Hongkong for this port on the 11th ult. with 275 passengers and a cargo of mats and rice. She will be due here in two weeks unless kept back by calms or head winds. On the 21st of last month the bark Forward, Capt. White, sailed from Hongkong, having on board 300 passengers and a full cargo. She is bound for Portland. Among the passengers on board the Forward is Sam Poey, of the house of Wa Kee & Co., who departed last fall from here on the same vessel. The cargoes and passengers of the Canadienne, now in port, and also of the vessels Forward and Garibaldi, on the way hither, are consigned to the firm of Wa Kee & Co.

ABUSE OF AN OFFICER.—A man named Wilmer was arrested last evening for using very abusive language to a police officer, on account of the officer's action towards another party. For this use of the unruly member, the gentleman was taken under arrest. A jury trial was demanded and the case will come up for trial in the Police Court this morning.

UNDER ARREST.—Taylor and Allison, the parties who were engaged in a shooting affray on the Columbia last week, are both in custody. Allison, not being able to give the required bonds, was committed to await his examination. Taylor gave bonds for his appearance and was released. An examination will be held to-day before Justice Ryan.

NOT AS A SCHOOL.—We are authorized to state that the Sabbath School connected with the First Baptist Church of the city will not attend as a school the Union Sunday School picnic on next Saturday. The reason of this, we are informed, is for the want of time to complete the necessary arrangements.

RAPIDLY LOADING.—The large ship Puritan is loading with flour at Flanders' wharf as rapidly as the staple article can be brought down the river and landed on the dock. Already 600 tons have been stowed away in the hold, and about 1,000 more are to be added. She will be ready to clear in a week.

WHERE TO PAY.—We are requested to state that those persons who subscribed last Sunday evening, at the Union Bible Meeting, at the Taylor street church, and whose subscriptions remain unpaid, can hand the amount to D. W. Williams, of the firm of Williams & Myers.

APPOINTED.—M. P. Bull, Esq., for several years publisher and proprietor of the Evening Commercial, and at present editor of the Mountain Sentinel, has recently been appointed by W. B. [illegible] Deputy District Attorney for the county of Union.

GONE TO SEA.—The bark O[illegible] loaded with railroad iron, left Astoria and passed out to sea last Sunday morning bound for San Francisco. The bark Rival, which loaded with lumber at Cementville for San Francisco, crossed the bar yesterday.

PIG IRON—FISH.—The barkentine Jane A. Falkinburg is loading at the wharf for San Francisco. She will receive a quantity of pig iron on board, and then go down the river. Fish will be used to complete her cargo.

RELEASED.—The woman Mary Kelly, who was implicated in the robbery which occurred last week at the Young America Saloon, procured the required bonds $500—and was released from custody on Monday.

FINED.—Four [illegible] were arraigned in the Police Court yesterday morning on counter charges of assault and battery. Two of the defendants were each fined $5 and costs, and two discharged.

The public mind has been somewhat agitated with the Modoc war, an occasional marine or railway disaster, and the dull times, and the prospect of buying clothing at a figure not large enough to clean a man to the bedrock. The place has been found where you can buy men and boy's clothing, or gentlemen's furnishing goods, at the very lowest prices. It is at Beck & Waldman's, corner of Front and Washington street, where a full assortment of men and boys' clothing, in the latest styles, can be selected from.

A first class photograph is worth a good price. A poor one is of no value whatever. Therefore the motto of Buchtel & Stolte is—Superior work, equal to any in the United States, for which we demand a good price, and receive the same. Our new Viewing Wagon, for Scenic Views, is now ready, and all orders for pictures of buildings, etc., promptly attended to, at the First Premium Gallery, No. 91 First street, Portland, Oregon.

A number of dry goods boxes emptied of their contents led the public to believe that something new had just been opened, and upon closer inspection it was found that the boxes were addressed to J. O'Neil & Co., 95 First street, who had but a few moments before piled up in their store an extensive and varied stock of clothing, gentlemen's furnishing goods, and cloths of fine texture for the manufacture of spring styles in gentlemen's and boys' clothing.

"A Wonder of Medical Science" may well be applied to Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. It is nearly half a century since this remarkable remedy was introduced to the public, and yet the immediate and enviable reputation which it gained by its wonderful cures of coughs, colds, whooping cough, sore throat, influenza, consumption, and all bronchial complaints, is to this day fully sustained.

PERSONAL.—Dr. Helmbold to the front again. We are glad to see that during the Doctor's temporary residence in Europe the supply of his genuine Extract Buchu (the only known specific for urinary disorders and obscure complaints in either sex) has been supplied from his formula and apparatus by his representative here. The genuine article bears the Doctor's signature, and is probably the best known and most valuable remedy of the kind in the world. John F. Henry, New York, Sole Agent.

Corn and flour are staple articles, but not more so than Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, where known. It is good for children or adults, for any internal soreness of the chests or bowels, and the best Liniment prepared, under whatever name.

UPHAM'S FRESH MEAT CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.—And all Bronchial and Pulmonary affections, carefully prepared from the formula of Prof. Trousseau of Paris, who used it with such astonishing efficacy in the hospitals of that city, as to attract the attention of the faculty to its wonderful merits.

It is now used here with like great efficacy, giving new life to many hopeless cases, relieving all.

Sold at $1 00 per Bottle or Six for $5 00.

OREGON.

The Medical Society of the Third Judicial District will meet in Salem on the 2d prox.

A term of the Circuit Court will begin on next Monday at Hillsboro, Judge Upton presiding.

A Douglas county man who sued a neighbor for libel obtained a judgment in the Circuit Court last week for $5.

Amelia City, Baker county, has a population of about 40 white men, 60 Chinamen, 3 white women and 5 or 6 children.

A new fellow in Watkind's chain gang at Salem laid a Chinaman out last Monday while they were working together. He didn't like cheap labor.

Invitations for twenty four delegates have been received from the National Agricultural Congress which will meet at Indianapolis, Indiana, on the 28th instant, for this State and Washington Territory.

Three gentlemen in Wallowa valley were out hunting, and returning home after night, passed through a thicket, when one of the horses was shot through the hip by some concealed party generally supposed to be an Indian.

The citizens of Wallowa Valley met on the 7th inst. and formed an organization for their mutual protection, and elected their officers as follows: James A. Masterson, Captain; John S. Clark, 1st Lieutenant; Thomas Z. Smith, 2d Lieutenant. The other officers subject to the appointment of the Captain.

A letter from Amelia City to the La Grande Sentinel says there are about 30 white men and 50 Chinamen employed in working the various mining claims in the camp, whose wages in the aggregate amount to $220 per day, the wages of the white men being $4 per day and that of the Chinamen $2 per day. The demand for labor far exceeds the supply.

The Blue Mountain Sentinel learns that grain is now being destroyed in different localities of Grand Ronde valley by an insect resembling a large horse fly, only somewhat larger. "We did not ascertain the extent of the damage done, and would be pleased to hear from other farmers that we may inform our readers understandingly, that the facts may be generally known."

Amelia City is centrally situated, being located midway between the camps of Eldorado, Malheur and Mormon Basin. It contains two saloons, two boarding houses, two or three vacant houses, one grocery, which is occupied by R. H. Brown of Baker City, one livery stable, one butcher shop, one brewery, one blacksmith shop, two tenant houses, and about half a dozen China houses.

The Burnt River Ditch in Eastern Oregon is leased for a term of three years by R. Pleasanton of Rock Island, Illinois, for $280,000, the money to be applied to the payment of whatever debts the Company has contracted for the last two years, and also to redeem the ditch, which was sold by Sheriff sale in Baker City last February, and purchased by Carter and Packwood, who held a mortgage thereon for the amount of $43,000.

For several days past there has been a large number of men at work at the head of the Santiam river which conducts the water to Mill Creek, which supplies the mills of Salem with power. The high water last winter washed away a drift that caused the river to flow to the head of the race, and the river resumed its old channel. The different companies of Salem have constructed two large dams and a race about three hundred yards long.

The Statesman says: "Mr. A. J. Monroe, of Salem, has received the contract for the stone work on the State House building—that is, the foundation above the ground. He has contracted to build it three feet high, of a blue sand stone that is procured at Oakland, the wall to contain 3,200 cubic feet, at $1 80 per foot. This stone is easily worked when first quarried, and will receive a beautiful polish, and is of dark blue color. In a short time after taken out of the quarry it becomes very hard, and the test that was made of it by the building commission demonstrated its durability beyond a question, and several stone masons, some of whom are from California, pronounce it the best building material on the coast. The portion that Mr. Monroe contracts for is what is known as rustic, and will give a bold and grand appearance to the building."

The La Grande Sentinel of the 17th inst. says: "Last Thursday night, between 12 and 1 o'clock, the store of W. J. Snodgrass, at Oro Dell, was entered by a burglar or burglars at the rear, by boring out the dead latch. Lamden Snodgrass was sleeping in the front room and was not awakened by the burglars. The first intimation he had of the presence of any person was a terrible blow with an ax or hatchet or slung shot on the cheek. Fortunately, the blow did not stun him. He spoke and said, 'where is my revolver?' This frightened the robber, who was undoubtedly a maniac, and he departed hastily. The neighbors were aroused, but no clue to the burglar could be obtained. There was a large amount of money in the safe and the clerk had the key. On Thursday afternoon Mr. Snodgrass had gone to his ranch with the expectation of not returning until next day. This the robber must have known. Mr. Snodgrass, it was generally known, contemplated going to Portland to purchase goods, in a few days, and had the burglar got away with the coin, he would have made a big haul."

A FREE BRIDGE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

No one can have observed the increase of passengers over our popular ferry, and the jam attending the crossing of funerals, without feeling the necessity of a bridge. Should an accident occur when the boat is loaded with carriages, not one third of the passengers could escape. It is surely time for a bridge, if the county will give the road from Portland to East Portland the attention it gives to other roads. A movement is made toward a Free Bridge, by subscription. Let the public know who are the subscribers; they are justly entitled to be regarded as public benefactors. Is the public spirit of Portland equal to this work? We shall soon see. E. P.

COLEMANS EUCALYPTUS

Dr. J. S. Coleman's Compound Extract of Eucalyptus is a preparation combining all the valuable medicinal qualities of the Eucalyptus, which is cultivated in [illegible] garden for its medicinal utility, having become the household remedy for all diseases of the KIDNEYS, BLADDER and URINARY CANAL, and SEMINAL WEAKNESS. It seems to have a direct affinity for the GENITO-URINARY ORGANS and their surroundings, and cures them by its alterative, [illegible] than any other known remedy.

It is an invaluable remedy for all diseases of the mucous and serous membranes, such as BRONCHITIS, HACKING COUGH, NAUSEA DURING PREGNANCY, DYSPEPSIA, LEUCORRHOEA, etc.

This preparation is the result of Dr. Coleman's experiments with the [illegible] properties of the [illegible] in the U. S. Juridical Insanity.

[From the New York Independent.]

The paper recently read by David Dudley Field before the Medico-Legal Society of this city, in relation to what is called "emotional insanity," contrasts strongly with the theories of those speculative sentimentalists who regard all crime as a species of insanity, or, at least, as proof thereof. Mr. Field rejects the whole idea of insanity, considered as working any exemption from criminal responsibility, unless it be seated in the reason, and be of such a character as to render the subject of it incapable of judging as to the nature of his actions. No man has a right in law to be emotionally insane, any more than he has to be insanely angry or insanely malignant. Those disordered actions of reason which have their basis in the passions, are not sufficient to cancel legal responsibility. Mr. Field, in this view of the question, thinks that Sickles, McFarland and Cole, who were acquitted on the plea of insanity, ought to have been convicted and hung. Though they acted under the impulse of intense passion, and not without provocation, they were not insane in the juridical sense. The main object of punishment is neither vengeance nor strict retribution, but protection, by deterring men from the commission of those acts which the law regards as crimes. A crime is an act or an omission which the law forbids; and to prevent its occurrence it employs the power of penalty, suiting the penalty to the quality of the crime.

These views of Mr. Field, while lawyer like and practical, are substantially those which civil society must take in order to maintain its authority and afford protection to the innocent. It cannot subsist without law, and law is powerless except as it is executed in the punishment of its violations. The punishment of crime, as a measure to deter others from its commission, is a necessity that inheres in the very existence of civil society. It is not a merely speculative and theoretical, but a sternly and imperatively practical.

Human nature, however, justly revolts at the idea of inflicting punishment for acts done by men when insane. The reason is that they are not, when in this state, deemed rational agents; and, hence, their actions ought not to be invested with juridical properties and relations. On this principle the law of this State expressly declares that "no act done by a person in a state of insanity can be punished as an offense." It goes even further and adds that "no insane person can be tried, sentenced to any punishment, or punished for any crime or offense while he continues in that state." These provisions fairly express the universal legal sense of the civilized world.

The kind of insanity of which the law takes cognizance, and in the presence of which relieves its victim from responsibility, being that of reason, there must necessarily be some standard by which to determine its existence whenever it is made a plea in a court of justice. There is but one standard possible in the case; and this is the usual condition of man, legally assumed to be the sane condition, to which insanity is exceptional. Men ordinarily understand the nature and relations of their actions; and this the law deems a rational and responsible state, whatever may be the impulses or passions under which they act. Such being the general condition of men whoever offers the plea of insanity must establish the fact on which his claim rests. The burden of proof is upon him. Society certainly cannot undertake to prove its own sanity, or that its laws are such as a sane people ought to enact, and yet exist as a law-making and law-enforcing power. It judges of the alleged exception by comparing it in the [illegible] thereof with its own standard of [illegible].

The simple question, then, to be determined is this: Was the person involved, at the [illegible] in which he did an act, which, being done by a sane man, is a crime, a rational being in the usual acceptation of this phrase? Did he know what he was about? Did he know [illegible] to understand the nature of his act and to intend it? If he did then he was in full possession of that kind of sanity which [illegible] as a responsible state. Nothing but such a loss of reason as renders it incompetent to guide the will can be juridically regarded as insanity. This being proved by facts, then and not till then is the party [illegible] the plea entitled to its benefits.

These juridical conceptions exclude the whole doctrine of moral and emotional insanity. [illegible] that a man has a depraved or [illegible] is no excuse for him if he [illegible]. The fact that he acted under strong impulses, however much it may have impaired the proper control of reason, will not relieve him from responsibility. Eccentricities, vagaries, foolish notions, singular proclivities to action, unusual tempers, intense passions, these and the like are perfectly consistent with legal sanity. Their presence neither justifies crime nor excuses it from its penalty. Law recognizes no kind of insanity except that which has its seat in the [illegible] and is marked by such symptoms as indicate that reason is actually so disordered as to be incapable of what the common sense of the world regards as rational and responsible action. It does not and cannot allow criminals to plead ignorance, erroneous views, or violent tempers of the heart, as an excuse for crime. It applies its jurisdiction primarily to acts, and deals with mental states so far only as it may be necessary to fix the nature of these acts. One may be intensely angry, and the law will not touch him if he suppresses it; but if he intentionally kills another being [illegible] he is angry, then it will hang him as a [illegible]. There is no penalty for anger; but, if it be followed by crime, then there is a penalty for the crime. If one has a passion for [illegible], the law will not punish him unless he steals. Acts form the field over which it extends its jurisdiction, and whoever has sufficient reason to act intelligently has that legal knowledge which the law makes pertinent to criminal responsibility.

In 1843 the British House of Lords submitted the question of juridical insanity to fifteen [illegible] judges, who returned the following answer:

> The jury ought to be told in all cases that every man is presumed to be sane and to possess a sufficient degree of reason to be responsible for his crimes until the contrary be proved to their satisfaction; and that, to establish a defense on the ground of insanity, it must be clearly proved that at the time of committing the act, the party accused was laboring under such a defect of reason from disease of the mind, as not to know the nature and quality of the act he was doing, or, if he did know it, that he did not know he was doing what was wrong.

The doctrine here set forth is the one adopted by both English and American courts, in deciding [illegible] of criminal [illegible] in which insanity is made a ground of defense.

A Pair of Royal Barbarians.—A shocking story comes from Africa. A treaty having recently been concluded between the King of Bonny and the King of Opobo it was, in accordance with the ancient custom, ratified by sacrificing a slave in a very peculiar manner. From the crown of the head down over the [illegible] an incision, as if for halving, was made, [illegible] stout men seized hold of the victim, while some others hacked the body into two parts along the line indicated through the incision. One half of the body the representative of King Bonny, and the other half an ambassador of Opobo flung into the sea, by which the contract was considered irrevocably sealed. King Bonny tried very earnestly to avoid this useless and cruel part of the ceremony, but the Africans were not to be dissuaded from abandoning a time-honored usage. The victim himself did not appear much disturbed by the fate in store for him. His consolation was that his butchers would be repaid with the same coin in the next world.

A Graphic Domestic Picture.—Did you ever see a man fish around in the bottom of a tub of water for a piece of soap? At the first he simply reaches down upon it to pick it right up, and is very much surprised to find that he hasn't it. Then he approaches it more cautiously, puts his hand over it, and then comes down noiselessly till he gets every finger about it, and then squeezes it tight, and—misses it. He looks at it for a moment before making another effort, and fills up the interval with a few remarks. The third attempt is a sort of semicircle described with a great deal of sagacity, but it is a failure. Other remarks follow. Then he makes a succession of dives and slops the water over his clothes, and drenches the carpet, and catches hold of the soap several times, and lets go of it again, and screams at the top of his voice, and finally, in perfect despair, sits down on the floor and actually howls.—Danbury News.

GENERAL NOTES

The number of improvements on the art of telegraphy, as shown by the record at the Patent Office, point to the adoption at an early day of single lines of telegraph where three or four are now used. An inventor has discovered the art of making one wire perform the work of three or more.

The smallest sized sewing silk manufactured measures about 2,200 yards, or over one and one-fourth miles to the ounce. Even in the construction of this variety, sometimes from 200 to 400 fibers of the material, as originally spun by the silk worm, are required. These little vermiform artists which produce this beautiful material do not spin threads of uniform size. The smallest fiber of silk, as wrought by the worm into the exquisite structure of its cocoon, is so infinitely minute that every ounce of the manufactured thread is supposed to contain nearly 4,000 miles of this fine like strand, and the puny animal sometimes elaborates a fiber of such marvelous tenuity that less than four pounds of the thread, avoirdupois, would reach around the world.

Choir singing in New York is fast becoming very lucrative. The tariff of salaries has been greatly enhanced of late. A few years ago $1,000 was considered a very large stipend for an organist, while $500 to $800 easily satisfied the most exacting soprano. Now, however, there are a dozen or more organists who receive from $2,500 to $3,000 a year, and the average soprano thinks herself but poorly remunerated with $1,000. One lady of eminence in the musical profession recently declined the offer of $5,000 salary from one of the principal churches. Two thousand dollars are paid in several instances. Tenors who last year sang for a thousand dollars, this year demand and receive fifteen hundred. Bassos and altos, of course, share in the general rise of musical values.

An interesting archæological discovery has just been made by a peasant while plowing in the neighborhood of Arles (Bouches du Rhone), consisting of an ancient glass cup. It is composed of two portions; one is simple ordinary glass forming the vase, while the second is an ornament in red glass superposed. This latter forms a series of ovals united by knots curiously interlaced. On one of the sides is a Latin inscription which has been deciphered "Divus Maximianus Augustus." This object, therefore, belonged to the Emperor Maximianus Hercules, who resided in Gaul for a considerable time. The cup thus found has no foot, and those for festivals were almost always made so. A slave, standing behind the guest, passed it to him full and held it, when emptied, without its ever resting on the table.

The Temps, in its Indo Chinese correspondence reports a horrible fact which marked the surrender to the imperial troops of a city occupied by the rebels. Sin-Cheff, which had long been in the hands of the insurgents, has fallen into the power of the army. If but little blood was shed during the siege, after the capitulation all the defenders to the number of six hundred, were beheaded, although they had surrendered voluntarily. An English adventurer, in the service of the Chinese army, and at the same time correspondent for the Shanghai Courier, was present at the execution. All the victims died courageously, exclaiming to their butchers that their death would be avenged by their children. Some of them were unwilling to wait for that period, and threw themselves upon the soldiers, of whom they succeeded in killing four, and wounding several with poniards they had concealed in their sleeves.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Financial.

Monday Evening, May 19, 1873.

Gold in New York to-day, 118¼.

Portland Legal Tender rates, 85½ buying; 86½ selling.

Gold bars are quotable at 300 fine.

The let-up in the pressure at New York in Financial matters is a source of some encouragement to business men here, and induces a hope that we may experience a similar rule in due course of time. Some of the Western cities have suffered no inconvenience from the stringency for months past, and the N. Y. Tribune says. "The return of Currency from the country, and the usual tendency to ease in the Money market in the month of May go very far to restore confidence after the recent prolonged pressure and extravagant rates for Money. We are not quite sure that these favorable changes have imparted implicit trust to the Share speculation, as the recovery in prices thus far is not so decided as to encourage what might be called a buoyant market. The effect upon the general trade of the city, however, cannot fail to tell upon business at a season like the present, when the reopening of canal and lake navigation favors a free demand for Merchandise for the West and a liberal export demand for Domestic Produce from the West."

New Feature in Banking.

A new feature in Banking has been inaugurated by a corporation under the style of the Western Savings and Trust Co. of San Francisco which has just been formed by policy holders of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company. They propose to do a general deposit and loan business, to act as agents for life insurance policy-holders, to purchase life-policies and loan Money on the same, and to do a general trust and agency business. The capital stock is $1,000,000, of which $500,000 has been subscribed and the remainder retained as a reserve, to be allotted to those who desire to join hereafter for the purpose of providing for future premiums on their policies, and also of earning a fair rate of interest on their investment. Besides the usual securities of Savings Banks, this institution will endeavor to make available a first class security which has hitherto been neglected by capitalists, consisting of policies of life insurance, endowments and annuities, of which over $90,000,000 are held on the coast. This, in fact, will be the special feature of the Company.

Wheat and Wool.

The stock of Wheat in London, March 31st, as returned by thirty-eight granary keepers and managers of dock and railway companies, was 160,836 qrs., against 312,731 qrs. December 31, 1872. The amount in the remaining warehouses, after consulting the opinion of competent and impartial persons, was 40,000 qrs.

The Boston Shipping List of April 30th says of Wool: "The Wool market is quite firm at recent prices, and there is now a fair prospect, with favorable advices from abroad, of a more settled market than we have had occasion to notice for some time. Manufacturers, however, are disposed to operate cautiously. The goods market still remains depressed, and while goods do not yield a fair return on cost of production, manufacturers are very indifferent about stocking up with raw material. Stocks of domestic fleeces are now comparatively light in all the leading markets, and what is left in the interior should be sent forward as fast as possible. There is no speculative demand whatever and no apparent margin for speculative purchases, especially as money continues to command such high rates."

Miscellaneous.

The bark Camden, with lumber from Port Gamble, arrived at Honolulu on the 29th ult. She sailed from Port Gamble on March 25th.

It appears from a Boston paper that the ship Davy Crockett made a round trip lately from San Francisco to Liverpool with wheat, and back with European freight to the United States. The summing up of her earnings in the nine months she was at sea and wharves is that she realized a profit to her owners, over and above expenses, of $37,000. The ship is dear at $90,000.

Sydney dates of March 11th report Adelaide Wheat firm at 4s 9d per bushel, and Flour at £11@12 per ton; Wool, 6a10d for greasy, and 12@23d per lb for fleeces; Kauri bark, 1s 10d. The British ship Middlesex and the bark Madam Democrat were loading Coal at Newcastle for San Francisco at 40s, the former to sail March 15th. There had been heavy rains and floods in the agricultural districts, which would delay the crops.

Home Produce Market.

A fair amount of business in this line has been done to-day, and the outlook is a little more encouraging. Since the reduced rates for inland transportation have ruled, producers have found that their share of the profits of production have been materially increased, and propose to enter the work of farming on a more extended scale than heretofore, as they find that with freights down to a living figure they can make their business pay with more or as much certainty as any class of people in the land. There is no good reason, if transportation can be had at reasonable rates, why the tillers of the soil in Oregon should not receive for their time, labor and capital this year over $2,500,000 in coin. The surplus wheat, oats and wool ought to, and probably will, bring more. With proper management there are no insurmountable obstacles to our having here a mart whither the attention of the buyers of the world will be turned, and where they will find those staples of wheat, wool, fruit, bacon, etc., to supply, in part, the millions of Europe and Asia. We are convinced that our home products cannot be generally excelled in any part of the world, and we will welcome the day when we shall have a market for them, and the producer shall grow rich in our midst on the fruits of his toil.

WHEAT—Demand quite steady at $1 60 per cental.

FLOUR—Prices are firm at our last quotations. The receipts of the past few days show a slight falling off.

FRUIT—Prices hardly keep so well up as for wheat and flour, owing, perhaps, to the advance of the season, and the fact that fear of the horse disease becoming general here, has abated.

HAY—The demand is inactive, and prices seem rather inclined to droop.

BUTTER—Supply more than adequate to the demand, and dealers offer about making purchases. Best lots no more than 20 cents to jobbers, and good at less.

EGGS—Abundant receipts and low prices in San Francisco keep rates here down to 16 cents per dozen, with no near prospect of a rise.

WOOL—Occasionally small lots are coming to hand, but prices are without material change.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF PORTLAND. SAVINGS DEPARTMENT.

This bank has established in connection with the general Banking business a SAVINGS DEPARTMENT, and will allow Interest on Coin Deposits made in accordance with the conditions adopted by the Association.

In establishing a SAVINGS DEPARTMENT this Banking Association has in view the benefits to accrue to a class of people having small sums to loan, by providing a safe place of deposit, ample security and fair rate of interest, as well as to aggregate and bring into use idle capital.

For the safety of deposits in this Bank are pledged its entire capital and reserve, and also the personal liability of its Directors and Stockholders, as provided by Section 12 of the National Currency Act, approved June 3, 1864, a greater security than that given by ordinary Savings Banks. Printed copies of the conditions upon which deposits are received may be had upon application at the Bank.

STAGE LINES.

COLUMBIA RIVER & PUGET SOUND MAIL LINE.

GEORGE COGGAN, Proprietor.

The only regular line running by arrangement, and in connection with the PUGET SOUND STEAM NAVIGATION CO., N. P. R. R. CO. and O. S. N. CO., between Sound points, Victoria and Portland.

THIS IS THE ONLY STAGE LINE selling THROUGH tickets over these several lines, and carrying passengers on their tickets.

Passengers, by purchasing THROUGH TICKETS save money and trouble, and secure the best conveyances, by the only line by which close connections can be relied on. The small reduction made by so called opposition stage lines cannot benefit THROUGH PASSENGERS, as the local fare over the N. P. R. R. and other lines exceed the reduction made by the opposition.

Through tickets can be obtained in Portland at O. S. N. Co's office Olympia, at COGGANS' STAGE office and on board the P. S. S. N. Co.'s steamers.

OUR AGENTS on trains will take charge of baggage and freight for stages, in waiting at Tenino.

Buggies, Carriages and other private conveyances can be secured by telegraphing to the Agent at the Stage office at Olympia.

To Contractors.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, appointed Superintendent by the County Court of Clackamas county, Oregon, will let a contract for the construction of a BRIDGE ACROSS THE CLACKAMAS RIVER, on the road leading from Oregon City to Portland. Such contract will be let to the lowest responsible bidder, at public outcry, at the Court House door, on MONDAY, 2d DAY OF JUNE, A. D. 1873, at the hour of 1 o'clock, P. M., subject to the right of the County Court of said county to reject such bid, if the same should exceed the sum such Court is willing to appropriate toward the construction thereof.

Such Bridge will be 210 feet long, if built according to Smith Patent Truss, with aprons, or two spans of 140 feet each, with aprons, if built according to the plans of the old Cason bridge, at the same point. Bids will be received according to each plan.

Particular plans and specifications for each proposed style may be seen upon application to me after this date, and the successful bidder may expect to give bonds for the due execution of his contract.

Dated Oregon City, Oregon, May 8, 1873.

DR. C. G. GLASS.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated [illegible] successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible diseases [illegible] that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequences of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combated by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fœtid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequently insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco [illegible].

MARRIED MEN.

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the [illegible] responsibility [illegible] upon them, nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to patients a written guarantee, that he will give a medical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By [illegible] a letter through the Post Office or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All [illegible] strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders, who, with bogus advertising, dupe the unwary. Some of the [illegible] doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly [illegible] of San Francisco and other places, [illegible] and have too lazy too work at their trades. Some are [illegible] makers, newspaper [illegible], [illegible] etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians in eight out of ten are impostors, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting false titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy those who may call at his office of his ability to treat and cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco, Post Office Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO ADDRESS BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.
